CICADA CLUB!!!

Prizes!!!

Scientists at IU need your help! Cicadas are amazing creatures, and scientists are studying how they affect the plants and insects in the woods around town. For their experiments, they need more than 300,000 cicada carcasses...that's a lot of dead cicadas!!! While cicadas are still flying around B-town, many others are beginning to pass away, and their bodies are falling to the ground. We'd love your help collecting them, and are happy to reward the first 25 families with a $5 giftcard to the Chocolate Moose! Now that's some "SWEET SCIENCE!"

Cicada Club Rules:

- Collect as many dead cicadas as you can before Sunday June 27. No shells please, only adult cicadas (you can tell the adults because they have wings; squished and missing body parts are ok). Keep them in an open bag or bucket (no top) in a dry location--wet cicadas are stinky--peeyew!
- Drop off your cicadas at our table outside the IU Biology Building main entrance (facing 3rd street) 3-5pm June 27 and chat with scientists and pick up fun cicada puzzles and fact sheets.
- The first 25 families who drop off more than 500 cicadas (~2 quarts) will receive a $5 giftcard to the Chocolate Moose! And the family who collects the most will receive a $25 gift card to their choice of the WonderLab gift shop or Book Corner.
- Check out LauLab.com\cicadas to learn more about cicadas and how your cicadas will be used by scientists.
